

Thank You for Your Loyalty and Support!

As 2017 comes to a close, the team at Cecere Santana, PA would like to thank our clients for trusting us in their time of need. Throughout the years, our clients have turned to us to guide them during their hardships and we are grateful for their trust and for recommending us to their friends and families.

Thanks to you, we have had the opportunity to continue serving South Florida's legal needs - helping thousands of personal injury victims recover losses, obtaining maximum benefits for those who have sustained property damages to their homes or businesses, assisting injured workers in receiving payment for lost wages and medical care, and aggressively pursuing PIP benefits for doctors who have treated accident victims.

This year we moved our main offices to a central location in Plantation, allowing easier access for our clients to reach us. We also updated our computer system, which allows us to have up to date information on our client's case 24 hours a day. We have also hired additional staff to help in the areas of personal injury, homeowner's claims and workers' compensation.

To date, more than 80% of our clients have come to us referred by a family member or friend whom we have helped in the past. Once again, thank you for your loyalty and support throughout the years, and for allowing Cecere Santana, PA to be your legal representative.

Hurricane Claim Still Not Paid? We can Help You!

Months after Hurricane Irma ravaged through Florida, many home and business owners are still waiting for their insurance claims to be paid.

The Florida Office of Insurance Regulation estimates more than 689,000 residential property claims were filed because of Irma, with insured losses estimated at nearly $6 billion. To date, more than 30% of these claims are still pending. Of the commercial property claims, 70% still haven't been resolved.

While home and business owners may expect their insurance company to pay their claim without much hassle, unfortunately insurance companies will try to avoid paying the full value of the claim or deny it completely. Insurers may look for loopholes and clauses in the policies to deny claims or stall the process until the insured settles for the least amount of money.

At Cecere Santana, PA we have a team dedicated exclusively to working on claims relating to property losses caused by Hurricane Irma.

Attorneys Michael Cecere and Erick Santana were both previous claim adjusters and handled hurricane claims for State Farm. They know and understand how insurance companies work and they're now putting more than 25 years of claim experience to work for you.

Our attorneys can obtain the maximum benefits for you, including building property repairs, personal property replacement costs and additional living expenses while your property is being repaired.

We will handle claim presentation, claim documentation, mediation, negotiation, appraisals and trial if necessary.

If you are still waiting for your insurance company to pay for your hurricane or property damage claim, give us a call for a free consultation. There are no fees or costs unless we win your case and, in some cases, the insurance company will be required to pay for your legal fees if we prevail.

Cecere Santana Helps Community in Need

This year communities throughout South Florida were faced with the challenge of Hurricane Irma which left many with damaged homes, loss of power and days without work and pay. At Cecere Santana, we visited the SOS Children's Village in Coconut Creek and delivered pizzas, pancakes, waffles, chicken nuggets, fresh fruits and other staples to help feed the 72 boys and girls that currently live in these foster homes. We also thanked our first responders in Coral Springs by delivering some sweet treats as a thank you for their service.

During the Thanksgiving holiday, we donated more than 140 meals to Feeding South Florida, a non-profit organization that helps feed families in need. In December, we also collected toys for The Pantry of Broward County, an organization that gives toys to underprivileged children.
